

SECURITY COVER

Abstract

An apparatus is provided for securing a mobile terminal including a housing and an imaging device disposed within the housing for capturing an image through a lens. The securing apparatus comprises a sheet having an upper surface and a lower surface and an adhesive applied on the lower surface of the sheet. The sheet may be releasably adhered to the surface of the mobile terminal for covering the lens to substantially prevent image capture by the imaging device.